NOTABLE RACERS

Dan Pullen was a great promoter of the Red River and River Keepers. He paddled the entire Red River, participated in many Race the Red events, served six years on River Keepers board of directors, and volunteered for many events. 1949-2012

Fred Hector had a lifelong love for water and felt a connection to the Red River. His tenacious nature kept him kayaking into his 80's as he understood that kayaking was good for physical and mental health. He was competitive and was training for another Race the Red just a few weeks before he passed away. 1932-2019

Best Decorated

Decorate your vessel and arrive early to have your picture taken which will be posted on River Keepers Facebook and Instagram page. The picture with the most likes by August 15 at 12:00 p.m. will receive an award. All decorations must be securely fastened and collected immediately if they fall off.

Precautions

The Red River is host to zebra mussels—a key aquatic invasive species (AIS) that can cause harm to the river system and recreation. To prevent the spread of AIS to other rivers and lakes, racers should make sure they drain water from the inside of their vessels and remove any plants or debris from equipment.

ADDITIONAL RECOMMENDATIONS INCLUDE:

- Spray with high-pressure water
- Rinse with very hot water (120°F for at least 2 minutes; or 140°F for at least 10 seconds)
- Dry for at least 5 days

Rules to Remember

- Fun is the primary intention of this event!
- Life jackets must be worn AND fastened at all times.
- All vessels must be manually propelled.
